

INDIFFERENCE HIT BY REPRESENTATIVE
BYERS IN ADDRESS*Delivered Fine Talk at Meeting of Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

The Dixon Kiwanis club had one of the most successful meetings yesterday of the season. Not only was the meeting largely attended but the program was exceptionally good. Some of the delinquent members who have not been attending regularly, were escorted to the parlors of St. Luke's church, where the session was in progress, by guards.

Following the luncheon and a short business session, President John Crabtree introduced Representative John H. Byers, Lee county's greatest orator, who spoke upon the subject, "Politics in Relation to Business." His address was highly interesting and was one of the best talks that has been delivered before the club in many months. In his address, he said:

"Business and politics must eventually go hand in hand. Not for a selfish motive but for better and purer politics. When business and professional men and women take an active interest in politics, local, state and national, then we will get better results. The rule is and has been, to a large degree, that after men assume office, largely legislative, business and organizations become interested in issues and legislative programs, asking support for this and that. This is just as it should be. But what should prevent business and organizations from getting behind the right sort of candidates and seeing that none but the best qualified should be elected. After that is done then it will be much easier to get support for political and legislative programs. Get behind the right kind of men, men who stand for ideals rather than self."

Stand for "Deliverers"
"There are organizations which support candidates who can deliver certain things, for instance, patronage. To many people patronization stands above the welfare of the people. When business enters politics this will, to a large degree, be eliminated."

"The independent voter has become prevalent. The independent voter selects men of worth, rather than men who are clever at the game of wangling. Legitimate patronage is proper, but when men are elected to office simply because they stand with some faction that can deliver no matter what happens, it is wrong, and such men should be eliminated from political contests. As a rule when a business man interests himself in the politics of his state and community, he usually takes the independent side of it."

"Of course, our government is of parties, but parties must deliver what is best of the majority of the government. Otherwise they must suffer defeat. And the independent voter is largely responsible for such defeat. When the party in power makes good everyone being satisfied, that is a majority of the governed, then such party will suffer no serious trouble. In short the people have all to say. Indifference to politics on election is bad. Men and women should vote. Election day should be the one important day of all, because on that day the country's important business is done. If the people do the right thing there will be very little trouble about after-election results. Indifference to politics is one of the dangers to the governed."

British Oppose Turkish Demands

Constantinople, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Turkish national government has given formal assurances to the allies that the stipulations of the Mudanya armistice agreement will be respected.

London, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The British foreign office, it was stated in an authoritative quarter today, has telegraphed to the French and Italian governments a memorandum in which Great Britain declares that the main Turkish demands which are to come before the Near East peace conference at Lausanne are not regarded favorably by the British government.

Great Britain stands by the agreements previously made with her allies according to the memorandum. She received unfavorably the three main Turkish demands; namely a plebiscite in western Thrace, rectification of the Syrian frontier in favor of Turkey, and abolition of the capitulations.

Borovich Finds Life
One Trial After Other

The troubles of Mike Borovich are many. Indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of wife abandonment, arraigned and furnishing bond for appearance, he was arrested yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Mac Lichter and hauled into the county court.

His case for which he was indicted had been certified to the county court for disposition. Borovich appeared before Judge John B. Crabtree and his case was set for the December term of the county court. Bonds were fixed in the sum of $500.

JAIL SENTENCES FOR SELLERS OF HOOCH STOP 'EM*Minneapolis Judge is "Hard Boiled" in Judgments.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Federal Judge Page Morris' wholesale sentencing to jail of bootleggers and vendors of illicit liquor has caused great consternation among those arrested for violating the law.

Many persons plead that they have large families and ask to be let off with fines. Such pleas generally result in heavier jail sentences and fines. "It is remarkable the number of large families have in this district," Judge Morris asserted. "Easy sentences don't accomplish anything, and I am sending liquor law violators to jail wherever the statutes enable me to do so."

Judge Morris said he imposed sentences to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth only in extreme cases, but that two men had been convicted sent to that institution, when convicted of conspiracy to violate the liquor laws.

Jails Well Filled.
Four county jails in this district have been comfortably filled with federal-paying "guests" since Judge Morris started his campaign several weeks ago.

"But there is plenty of room yet," he said. "Ramsey, Hennepin, Winona and Wabasha county jails are pretty full, but there is still plenty of room."

The latest speeding up method of Judge Morris was tried on Tuesday when he adopted the English system of examining jury panels en masse. This resulted in a saving of half an hour or two hours, he said.

"They go at it quicker in England," he said.

Mountbatten Hobby

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Nov. 15.—Lord Louis Mountbatten of England and his bride, back after a six weeks tour of the United States today revealed that one of his hobbies is collecting motion picture films. He predicted that forty years hence, all the world will have libraries of films as people today have shelves of books.

Asked if he saw any wickedness at Hollywood, Calif., he grinned and said: "We looked for the wickedness of the first thing. We failed to find any, but I have to say that we arrived at seven in the morning and in a fog. Lord and Lady Mountbatten expect to attend the Army-Navy football game and will return to England next month."

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 15.—Clyde L. Herring spent $3,755.80 in his campaign for United States senator, according to his list of expenditures filed at the state house today. GERMAN CHANCELLOR, MINUS DYNAMIC, IS FORCED TO RESIGN*Cabinet, Headed By Mr.
Wirth, Quits Post Last Evening.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The German cabinet headed by Chancellor Wirth has fallen.

The ministerial resignations, filed last night, were precipitated by the decision of the United Socialists to participate in a coalition ministry which included members of the German Peasants' party. But the friends of Chancellor Wirth were not oblivious of the feeling that he had outlived his usefulness and now has become a victim of a policy of inaction and inactivity which found its culmination in the government's failure to make a practical arrangement with the allied reparations commission during the course of its recent visit to Berlin.

Ever since the assassination of Foreign Minister Rathenau the Chancellor has been described as a man who apparently possessed no inspiration, no initiative. This attitude gave added weight to the assertion that the late foreign minister was Wirth's inspiration, and the force which urged him on.

Lost Main Dybbie
With the passing of Dr. Rathenau, the Chancellor visibly lost influence with his cabinet colleagues. As a result the support given his "policy of fulfillment" diminished day by day. He admitted the collapse of this policy last summer when he announced that the government's slogan had become "bread first, then reparations." Foreign criticisms of the alleged weakness of the cabinet, emanating from London as well as Berlin during the last few days, contributed to undermining the Chancellor's position, even in the ranks of the coalition party. His belated espousal of the People's party as a necessary adjunct to the government definitely alienated the support he had been receiving from the socialists.

Ever since the assassination of Dr. Rathenau, the Chancellor has been obsessed with fear for his personal safety. During the last few months, a heavy guard of plain clothes men has constantly surrounded him.

Situation Uncertain
Chancellor Wirth's efforts to extend the government coalition to include the German people's party really founded on the unrelenting antagonism of the United Socialists to any participation in a cabinet in which the Stinnes-Stresemann group also would be represented. The vote which finally precipitated the crisis came last night, the Socialists in the Reichstag deciding by a large majority against an extension of the coalition to include the party of the industrialists.

Today the President will undertake the first steps toward the appointment of a new cabinet. During the night the situation was one of utter confusion. A number of solutions of the crisis already have been suggested. One is for a cabinet of "business men without party affiliations" while another probability concerns itself with a ministry composed only of Bourgeoisie party. It is uncertain whether Wirth again will be commissioned to constitute a new ministry.

Greece Asks World

Refugees from Abroad

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 15.—The Greek government is asking the "utmost help" from every nation in its efforts to care for the hundreds of thousands of refugees which continue to pour out of Asia Minor as a result of the Turkish military successes, according to a cable to the American Red-Cross from Dr. A. Ross Hill, director of its Near East Relief fund. The cable, graphically telling of the conditions in the refugee camps, declared that the fate of a million Christians, driven into the sea by the Turks, hangs largely on the "quick charity of America," for many other peoples are unable to help.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Nov. 15.—The paraphernalia which will be used in the Columbia football game next Saturday includes a special headgear of stiff leather, filled with eyeglasses. The wearer of this unique guard will be Ed Fischer, tackle on the Columbia eleven, who lays claims to the distinction of being the only collegiate athlete in the country who engaged in the gentle game of football with the assistance of eyeglasses. Fischer whose sight has failed greatly in the last year was a star on last season's freshman team.

SUNSPOTS, MOON CAUSED RECENT
CHILEAN QUAKE*California Astrologer
Tells of Phenomena of Planets.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Santa Clara, Calif., Nov. 15.—Although sunspots had something to do with the disastrous earthquake and consequent tidal waves in Chile, the moon was also a contributing factor, in the opinion of Father J. S. Ricard of the University of Santa Clara Observatory.

Father Ricard is a leading exponent of the theory that sunspots have a direct relation to the weather. "When the Chilean earthquake occurred a great sun spot, latitude six degrees south, was in place to strike the earth," Father Ricard said.

"For more than 22 years this coincidence between malignant sunspots and earthquakes has been repeating itself. A coincidence thus indefinitely maintained is in itself a proof. "On the other hand, it cannot be denied that the moon acts at an angle of 45 degrees, where, unopposed by gravity, it lifts not only the waters of the ocean, but also the earth. This opens fissures in the sea bottoms where the water, filtering in abundance, is turned into super-heated steam and explodes, thereby lifting enormous masses of solid material which begin to oscillate, and that is the earthquake."

NOT A HOUSE STANDING
Santiago, Chile, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Scarcely a house remains standing in the Valparaiso valley in northern Chile, as the result of the earthquakes and marine disturbances of last week. The full extent of the disaster, which centered on the provinces of Atacama and Coquimbo, became more fully known today with the re-opening of telegraph communications with North Chile.

In these two provinces the victims number 1500, so far as is now known, but it is expected the number of dead will be substantially increased when communications are resumed with many villages in the interior whose fate remains unknown. Martial law has been declared at Valparaiso and in Copiapo, owing to the looting which bandits have been making on the population.

Test Case Asked to Fix Status of Union of New Rail Employees

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 15.—Lawyers of Springfield who represent the "red" union and who are familiar with legal controversies in which labor is interested, have been engaged by the Chicago & Alton shop federation to make a test in the courts of the new union in Bloomington shops and also the legality of the dues collection. Following the strike of the shop crafts in July, the United States Labor Board adopted a resolution to the effect that the recommendation was made to all railroads to form new unions to be composed of the men who went to work during the strike and those who did not leave the service.

As near as can be learned, the law-yeers will ask for an injunction to restrain the company from making further deductions and the arguments upon this injunction and the decision to follow, it is expected will establish a precedent that will be a guide not only for the Chicago & Alton but all other roads which have adopted the same order.

The men who went out on strike and who have so far refused to recognize the proposed new union, make the point that the Labor Board did not suggest or order the railways to collect dues.

Washington, Nov. 15.—After a night spent in the house of detention, Mrs. Maria MacSwiney, former Mayor of Cork, who died in prison on a hunger strike, and eight other women, two of whom elected to refuse food and remain in confinement with her, were prepared to appear before a United States commissioner today to answer charges lodged against them for picketing the British embassy here.

The women were arrested yesterday during a demonstration before the embassy in protest to the detention of Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of Terrence, who is a prisoner of the Irish Free State.

Of the two besides Mrs. MacSwiney who refused food and spent the night on a house of detention, one was Mrs. Mary Ann Nolan of Jacksonville, Fla., who is more than 80 years old. The others gave Washington addresses.

WHAT PROMINENT LAYMEN SAY OF THE VALUE OF THE CHURCH*WHY I LOVE THE CHURCH.

DR. LEHMAN.
Because it was in the mind of God before the foundation of the world.
Because it was on the heart of His only begotten son, Jesus Christ as the lamb slain for it from the foundation of the world.
Because it included in its conception every one born in this age.

"Jesus shall reign where'er the sun,
Doth his successive journeys run,
His Kingdom stretch from shore to shore,
Till moons shall wax and wane no more."

I am truly sorry that any one should miss such a wonderful opportunity, since every one is included in its plan.

Hear Her Invitation.
"The Spirit and the bride say come,
And let him that heareth say, come.
And let him that is athirst, come,
And whosoever will let him take
The water of life freely."

BY W. H. COPPINS.
The coming Sabbath, November 19, has been set apart as "Go to Church Sunday." Just why one Sunday should be named for that purpose I cannot conceive.

Many of our best citizens—both men and women—will make some sacrifice (?) and attend the morning service of their choice. I fancy that many a faithful Sabbath school pupil will pause to ask, "Who is that well-dressed man sitting in the family pew?"

May we not believe that the principles for which the church stands have made us victorious in every war, pre-eminent in wealth, illustrious for achievements, and glorious for universal liberty? Our record for selfishness can not be challenged. Some nineteen centuries ago the Master called his disciples about Him and gave to them the new rule for all who aspired to real greatness upon earth. To be great we must serve. This service can best be offered through the church.

Men and women of Dixon let us resolve to do our duty toward the church—not simply by giving our money, but by our presence in the family pew every Sunday morning.

I love the church because it is the only organization that has the authority to deliver this wonderful message.

PROSPERITY IS SURE IF EVERY ONE IS STEADY*Such is Prediction of Vice President of Express Co.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—If everybody "keeps their feet on the ground," widespread prosperity will soon be here, Robert M. Cowie, of New York, vice president of the American Railway Express Company declared today in a speech before the Mid-Day Luncheon Club.

Explaining that the business of the express company is a commercial barometer, he said its upward trend indicated that all that is needed now for genuine commercial prosperity are "cool headedness, cheerful outlook and confidence in the future," adding that "every month, every week, every day shows some improvement."

From Alvin Adams, who originated the express business 80 years ago by carrying articles in a haversack between New York towns, Mr. Cowie said the business grew until today the American Railway Express Company transacts more than $300,000,000 worth of business yearly. It issues more waybills, he said, than all the railroad systems of the country combined and the average value of the express cargo from New York City alone every night is $15,000,000.

The service had been injured, he declared, by the coal and rail strikes, adding that both the "rail carriers and the express company are on their toes bending every effort to restore normal service."

Stole Bathtubs; He Gets Day in Prison
New Suit and Wages

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 15.—For conviction on a charge of stealing two bathtubs from a plumber here, C. A. Kessel will receive a day trip to the state penitentiary at McAlester, with all expenses paid and will come away from the prison with $5 and a new suit, the state's gift to liberated convicts.

A jury in district court which found Kessel guilty assessed a penalty of one day in the penitentiary.

If Kessel believes he will be allowed the regular time off for good conduct, which will reduce his sentence to eighteen hours, it was stated at the office of the pardon and paroles board here.

The penitentiary sentence abrogates Kessel's citizenship rights, which may only be returned by a pardon from the governor.

BRUNDAGE ABOUT READY TO OPEN
R. I. VICE CASE*Expects to Summon
Grand Jury Next Week, Report.

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Attorney General Edward J. Brundage has almost completed investigation of vice and crime conditions in Rock Island which were climaxed by a series of seven murders here a few weeks ago, and it is expected he will call the grand jury next week and ask for a number of indictments.

One of the unexpected events of the past week was the suspension of the Rock Island News, John Looney's sensational newspaper. The war against protected vice and crime in the city has resulted in the wiping out of the underworld, including the stopping of the sale of "hooch," a number of saloons having closed voluntarily, when it was realized that the orders against the liquor traffic were meant. Looney is now a fugitive from justice. He disappeared after he had been indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of transporting in interstate commerce a stolen automobile.

Kidnapped By Gangs

Peking, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Einar Borg-Breen of Minneapolis, an American missionary of the Lutheran church and his son have been kidnapped by the army of bandits in Honan province, according to a report from Hankow. Altogether eight foreigners, including three American nuns, are held captive.

Rev. Mr. Borg-Breen was living with his family at Lo-shan, in the southeastern part of Honan. The foreign consuls at Hankow report apprehension throughout Honan over the increasing activities of the outlaws.

American legation figures show that there are 340 Americans, mostly missionaries, scattered through thirty towns in Honan province. The Chinese foreign office has promised to exterminate the bandits.

Attorney Pleads for Acquittal of
Mrs. Clara Phillips

Los Angeles, Nov. 14.—Acquittal or at the worst, manslaughter. Those are the only possible verdicts in the case of Mrs. Clara Phillips, on trial for the murder of Mrs. Albert Tremaine Meadows, according to Bert Herrington, chief defense counsel, who, after taking up all of yesterday's sessions with his argument to the jury was expected to continue through much of today.

Mr. Herrington pleaded with the jury to acquit his client, however, declaring it was Mrs. Peggy Caffee, star witness for the state and not Mrs. Phillips who struck the hammer blows which brought death to Mrs. Meadows. He attacked Mrs. Caffee's testimony, both before the grand jury which indicted Mrs. Phillips and at the present trial, declaring she was a "perjurer" and her story "a stack of manufactured incidents."

When Mr. Herrington concludes, Charles W. Fricke, deputy district attorney, will close for the state. Indications were that the case would not go to the jury before Wednesday.

DIXON CONTRACTOR HAS NARROW ESCAPE
FROM TRAGIC DEATH*R. W. Sproul's Auto is

Train Last Eve.

Contractor R. W. Sproul, who resides at 208 East Everett street experienced a narrow escape from serious injury or possible death last evening when his truck was struck by the south bound Illinois Central passenger train at the crossing on North Dement avenue. The contractor was hauling some boxes and old lumber and did not hear the passenger train as it rounded the curve coming into the north side station.

The engine struck the rear of the truck, almost demolishing it, but Mr. Sproul escaped without injury. Both rear wheels of the truck were crushed into kinking and the frame was bent and twisted from the impact with the locomotive.

Passengers aboard the train, alarmed by the excited whistling by the engine and the sudden grinding of the brakes when emergency brakes were applied, rushed from the cars as soon as the train came to a stop, expecting to find someone horribly mangled or dead. They were indeed surprised to find the driver of a machine so badly wrecked as Mr. Sproul's was unharmed.

Wants Union Miners Barred from Jury at Herrin Murder Trial

BULLETIN
Marion, Ill., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Four jurors have been accepted in the trial of five men charged with murder in connection with the Herrin mine killings. The quartet finally was accepted shortly before noon. Each have stated they would vote for the death penalty if the evidence warranted.

Marion, Ill., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—With a motion by the defense for continuance until next Monday of the trial of five men in connection with the Herrin mine killings before him, Judge D. T. Hartwell of Williamson county Circuit court, was expected to rule on the motion as soon as the last 35 veniremen of the first panel of 130 have been exhausted, probably late today. The motion to continue was made on account of the illness of chief defense counsel, A. W. Kerr.

Union coal miners should be barred from the jury, according to Otis Glenn, one of the state's attorneys, who said the Mine Workers' Union evaded an assessment on their members to raise a fund for the defense of the men, and that the collection of the assessment should automatically remove the prospective miner jurors for cause.

Twenty non-union workers and three union coal miners were killed in the riots last June 21 and 22.

Kansas Governor
Lauds Commission
Form of Government

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15.—The commission form of municipal government was lauded by Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas in an address before an open session of the City Managers' Association convention here last night.

"The greatest success of the commission form of government," Governor Allen said, "is in getting away from the old form of government, the municipal administration; that is the mixing of political efforts in the control of affairs."

"The rights of the people are being over ridden in many cities because of the indifference of a lazy public. Whenever I have heard of 'boss ridden' cities I always have less sympathy after investigation because the cause is always the same. The only cure is righteous indignation among the citizens."

"Beware of your friends and have no friendship in your appointments," the governor admonished the city managers.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Nov. 15.—In order not to conflict with the debut of Miss Abby Rockefeller only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the dedication reception of the Park Avenue Baptist Church, recently completed, has been postponed from Wednesday evening, November 22, to the next night. The church, including the site cost $1,500,000 and the Rockefeller family gave dollar for dollar for every other contribution made to the building fund.

The date of the dedication was set while Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., was in Battle Creek, Michigan, recently. On his return he learned of the date and remarked: "Well that's too bad. We're going to have company at our house that evening and I can't come." A hurried meeting of the trustees was held at which the reception date was changed.

THE LAND OF THE BUCKWHEAT CAKES.

(Chautauque County, N. Y.)
I have found the land of buckwheat cakes.

The land where the flaxjacks grow!
Where buckwheat fields stretch up the slopes.

And the summer sun just shines and hopes!
Where the honey bees in the blossoms hum.

And you almost smell the cakes, by gum!

Across the hills for miles and miles.
The buckwheat fields are wreathed in smiles.

These August days when skies are blue,
The whole day long and all night, too.

This is the land of buckwheat cakes,
The land where the flaxjacks grow!

—Bill Greer.

The above is most interesting and all about buckwheat cakes in the growing but the average person is more interested these cool mornings in the buckwheat cake "in the making." With maple syrup they certainly appeal to the appetite.

DIXON WOMAN'S CLUB MEET SATURDAY.

The Dixon Woman's club held its regular meeting on Saturday, Nov. 11, at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The program was in charge of the Art and Literature department of which Mrs. C. G. Shepherd is chairman.

As it was Armistice Day the first number was the "Star-Spangled Banner," sung by all present.

The next number consisted of two beautiful vocal solos sung by Miss Dolly Fauth, accompanied by Mr. Leydig.

In a few words Mrs. Shepherd then introduced Mrs. J. N. Parker of Chicago, who gave a most interesting talk. She did not speak on any one particular subject. The first thing she said was that she and several others are working hard to have the week commencing Dec. 3 known as "Illinois Book Week," as Illinois has so many wonderful writers and poets, whose work is deserving of recognition in their own state. Then she spoke of the importance of forming schools for industrial art and training our children at an early age to recognize the beautiful.

In her opinion art and war are closely related, for when children are taught to seek the beautiful things in life they turn away from the hideous things, and what is more hideous than war?

She also spoke of the necessity for preserving the Columbian Museum in Jackson Park, Chicago. This building is one of the three most beautiful buildings in the world—it is absolutely fire proof, and was designed by a young American from Iowa who died soon after its completion.

They are working hard now to establish a children's room at the Art

Very nice refreshments were served, and the members adjourned.

BIRTHDAY PARTY ENJOYABLE EVENT.

On Monday evening the members of the Golden Rule Circle and of the Young Men's Alliance class of the United Evangelical church held a delightful birthday surprise party on the home of Mrs. H. J. Hughes at her home.

PHIDIAN ART CLUB HAD MEETING.

The members of the Phidian Art club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Herman Rasch, 715 Hennepin avenue, with a good attendance.

The meeting opened with roll call and the business of the day was then disposed of.

An urgent request was received to help ex-servicemen in hospitals by sending bits of yarn, silk, carpet rags, beads and leather for bags. All Phidians are glad to help in this good work and will leave all their donations with Miss Fannie Murphy for forwarding.

Miss Evelyn Swingle delighted all with a double number on the piano, "Under the Oak Tree," and "Caprice," and responded to the hearty encore with another charming selection.

A splendid paper was then given by Mrs. Dorothy N. Law, who is one of the founders of the Phidians. The title of her paper was "The Wisdom of Solomon." Mrs. Law brought to the meeting pictures illustrating different parts of Mrs. Law's paper. The paper gave much interesting information and gave evidence of the thorough work of the student of the Bible.

DEEP WATERS NO. 3

SCORNING WIFE, JOHN TURNS TO HIS "PAL" MYRA

BY ZOE BECKLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

In a burst of fury, JOHN BARRETT, wealthy husband and father, declares he is about to leave for good his wife, ANITA, and their high school student children, JOHN Junior and ALICE. As Barrett makes this announcement, his wife refers sarcastically to his "unspeakable friend."

GO ON WITH THE STORY

The name of Myra Dean on his wife's lips with "unspeakable" before it, shook Barrett to the depths. "Unspeakable!" he echoed, stamping with fury. "You don't mean to—drag her in—not this way—It's—why, how dare you!"

She smiled at him, her lips tortured with detestation. "I'm sorry to—hurt you so badly. Why should you mind? It's only your—your wife she says it. But I suppose it does hurt a man to have the bitter truth told him about a woman who is dearer than—than his own children."

He came so near her that she shrank away in distaste. "Anita," his tone was terrifyingly low, "if a man had dared to say that of Myra, I'd cram the words back into his throat with my two hands!"

"I have no doubt of your passion, whatever else I may doubt."

"But don't you think that because you're a woman I'm going to let you drag Myra Dean's name in the mud. She's the truest spot in the world. You've not the slightest conception how square she is."

"Naturally!" There was half a jeer in Anita's voice. "How do you expect me to understand so paragon a creature! Me—a mere wife—to realize how square and splendid is the woman you idealize?"

"I tell you she's a friend. Can you understand what that means? A friend, staunch and true. And she's fair to you."

"Really!"

"Yes, in a way you cannot understand. She has nothing to hide. She can look the world square in the face and does it. But because she knows that you don't know it, she has told me I must not see her any more. She! The woman you call 'unspeakable!'"

His wife, terrified that she would defeat herself by tears, hurried to the door. But fury saved her. She wheeled:

"Then go to her," Anita held her self-control by sternest effort. "Go to her. Out of my sight. I can stand no more. Go tell her to take you and keep you. Look the world in the face together. Anyhow—anywhere—so long as I and my children cannot see her face—or yours."

Barrett was at the door before she could reach it.

"That shall be as you wish—my going. It's done. But if I go to her—and I may—it will be only because I beg the honor. We are clear on that, I hope."

Don't lose your teeth. It's unnecessary now. There is no reason why everybody cannot have good, firm teeth and healthy gums. Go to your druggist and get a tube of MOAVA DENTAL CREAM. All good drug stores have this or can get it for you on short notice.

Dentists and professional men are astonished at the discovery of this inexpensive yet unfailing prescrip for Pyorrhea, bleeding, receding gum with loosened, sensitive teeth.

Furthermore, the discoverer wishes all sufferers to know that if after using one tube you are not satisfied that MOAVA DENTAL CREAM will permanently rid you of this humiliating disease, your money is waiting for you. All druggists can supply you. Adv.

HOW IS YOUR SPINE? STRAIGHT OR CROOKED?

You can not have a crooked Spine, and still have Health. Each small bone of the Spine out of position means a pressure on the nerves that emit from that place, and results in an interference with the nerve supply to a certain and definite tissue or organ.

Anatomy and Physiology have proven the fact that all tissues and organs are regulated and controlled in their functions by the nerve supply. Hence, an interference with that nerve supply means an abnormal function, which is called Dis-ease.

Chiropractic Adjustments can and will straighten a crooked Spine. A straight Spine means Health. Now, before winter sets in, is the logical time to have us analyze your Spine, to see where the trouble is. If you do not have good health, Chiropractic is the logical solution. Start right now.

SECRETS EXPOSED

Some one finally says a good word for the kaiser. The "some one" is Sir Basil Thomson, former head of Scotland Yards detectives.

Thomson, now lecturing in America, and revealing "inside stuff" of the British secret service, says:

"The (German) general staff had resolved upon the invasion of Belgium and they put their plans before the kaiser. He vetoed them.

"This situation continued for 48 hours and after the general staff had issued the orders for the army to advance, Von Moltke went to the kaiser's bedroom at 2 in the morning and asked him to sign the order. He refused. Von Moltke then said that the safety of the fatherland had devolved upon the general staff and, "if your majesty refuses to sign, the general staff must take the responsibility."

"In other words," according to Thomson, "the kaiser must choose between abdication and approval, and he took the latter course."

Thomson's lecture, instead of ab-solving the ex-kaiser from guilt, distributes the guilt to the shoulders of many, Bill included.

A melodramatic picture of the leath of Rasputin, "sacred devil of Russia," is given by Thomson.

Rasputin, taken to a palace basement dining hall, was given a bottle of poisoned wine that had been tried out on a dog.

Rasputin, when the poison got to him, breathed heavily, and foamed at the mouth, but showed no signs of dying. So Prince Youssapov, when Rasputin staggered at him, gave him a shot out of a pistol, "and the morn-fell backwards with a terrible cry."

A doctor, called in, examined the body and pronounced it dead. Later Youssapov approached the corpse and "put his hand under the robe to feel the heart. It seemed to be still, when suddenly Rasputin sat up and seized him by the throat."

Youssapov escaped. Rasputin staggered to the door, out into the snow.
Three more pistol-shots brought him down. But it took a bludgeon to nish the work.

He died hard. You do not wonder.
Youssapov decided that Rasputin was the devil himself.

Sir Basil Thomson thus add a few more pages to the "inside history" of the World War, already contributed to so heavily by William Hohenzol-lern, Lloyd George, Franklin K. Lane and others.

The "inside stuff" is coming out on the heels of the war. That is contrary to custom, for diplomats usually leave their memoirs to be published after death.

We are fortunate. It is rarely that a generation that fights a war lives to learn what took place behind the scenes.

MR. METAL MIKE

An uncanny new invention, known as "Metal Mike," is perfected by Elmer A. Sperry, the marine inventor.

Metal Mike is an automatic ship steering device. It looks a lot like a street car motorman's control box.
Hook it to a ship's wheel and it steers six times more accurately than the best human wheelman.

The Moffett, largest tanker of the Standard Oil fleet, recently made a 4000-mile trip in which it was steered almost continuously by Metal Mike.

If the ocean waves twist the ship from dead from fright.

It makes you wonder, is there any work we do that eventually will not be duplicated by machinery?

Metal Mike, of course, lacks judgment, the most important quality of a human pilot. That is, Mike can steer a ship to destination—unless another ship gets in the way.

Still, it would not seem to be off her course, Metal Mike instantly detects the deviation from the route mapped out inside him before leaving port. Automatically Mike whirls the steering wheel and corrects the ship's course.

When you have a device like Metal Mike, by which a ship can practically steer itself from San Francisco to Hongkong, you have about the nearest-human piece of machinery ever made.

It's enough to have made a skilled navigator like Christopher Columbus impossible to improve Mike's cogwheel brain so that, hearing another ship, he automatically would steer away from it.

This would be just the reverse of the selenium torpedo, which automatically pursues its prey, no matter how many twists and turns are taken in the attempt to escape.

We recall an "automatic man" that years ago toured the country in cheap vaudeville houses. It walked. It bowed. It did many stunts. Its operator opened its coat, displaying a maze of machinery visible inside through a glass.

All went well until a woman, crafty in her knowledge of masculinity, shoved a hatpin in the automatic man's leg. His career ended with a howl.

But, at that, we wouldn't be surprised to wake up one of these marvelous days and find a genuine automatic man strutting the streets—and possibly running for political office.

GOOSE

This should get a groan from amateur hunters who spend an occasional evening admiring their shotguns:

George M. Hogue, secretary of North Dakota Game and Fish Board, writes that a wild goose weighing 23 pounds was barged in his section.

Many a hunter would rather bag that goose than find a purse of gold.
Primitive instincts are putting up a hard fight for survival, in some people, and curiously often are companions of advanced brains. If you have tried hunting and fishing and don't care for them, the primitive in you is dying out and "the system" is getting you in its mechanical claws.

the ton in the retail market weighs only 2000 pounds.—Christian Science

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"You're the Knave of Hearts."

The Twins crawled along the old man's beard, right through the sky from Mars to Jupiter.

They were searching still for Mother Goose's broom.

When they arrived, they unhooked the end of the old man's beard from the star point where it had caught when he threw it, and the last they saw of him, he was winding it up again on his garden-hose wheel.

"Thank you!" called Nancy and Nick, waving their hands.

"You're welcome!" answered the old man waving back to them.

Jupiter was a queer place, just as queer as Mars, but much bigger. The children looked around curiously.

Suddenly someone came toward them, running as fast as he could.
When he saw them he stopped suddenly and put his hands behind his back.

"Who're you?" he demanded.
"Nancy and Nick," answered the little boy quickly. "I know who you are. I can tell by your hat. You're the Knave of Hearts and you've stolen the queen's tarts. You've got them now."

Just then the queen herself came running up, all out of breath, her crown on one side of her head and her kitchen apron untied. "Oh, you rascal!" she cried. "Give me those tarts at once. I made them for my tea party this afternoon, for King Cole and the King and Queen of Six Pense. The poor things got so tired of bread and honey, I thought I'd give them a treat. And now you've stolen two!"
The Knave of Hearts looked guilty and handed them over.

"And now, my dears, what are you after?" asked the good queen.

"Mother Goose's broom!" said

ed by defeated candidates' explanations.

THE CHAMP PASSES (Britton-Walker Fight)

By Berton Braley

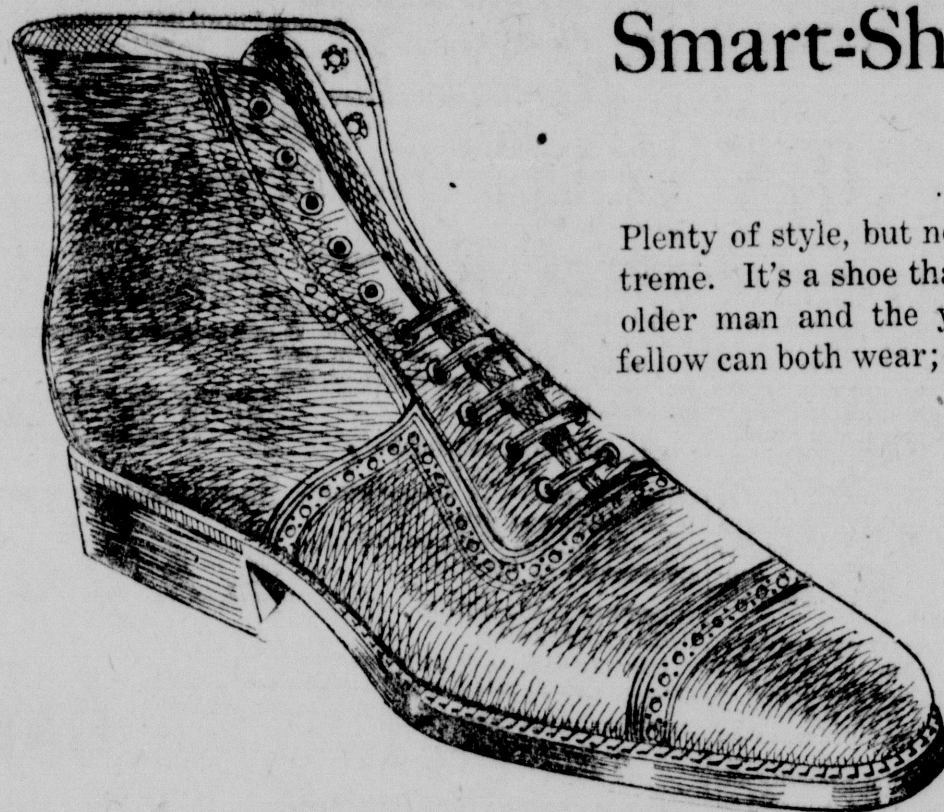

It took Old Father Time to lick that bird;
Old Father Time that gets 'em all, at last.
But Boy, Jack Britton made a fight that stirred Yer very soul, an' made yer blood run fast.
He was a champ, was Jack, a game, game guy
Who didn't dodge, but fought 'em, great an' small;
An' now his days of glory have gone by
In one last fight, the finest of 'em all.

KNEW he was licked, he did; but just the same
He didn't quit, but bravely fought along,
Usin' his bean an' knowledge of the game,
Stickin' it out until the final gong.
Walker, the kid, was great; but greater still
Was Jack, who knew the odds was all agin him.
An' yet kept on with brains an' nerve an' skill,
Givin' the last lone ounce that he had in him!

WAS I a person, I would take that bout
An' make a sermon of it; I would say,
"A guy should fight to win, but stick it out!"
No matter if it goes the other way.
An' if you fight the fight with all your strength,
Like Britton did, an' keep your courage whole,
Though Father Time may stretch you out at length,
You still will be the Captain of yer Soul!"

Triumphs of M. Jonquille

by MELVILLE DAVISSON POST

THE MOTTLED BUTTERFLY

Begin Here Today

Seated in the opera box of the MARQUIS DE CHANTELLE, impoverished husband of a wealthy American woman.

M. JONQUELLE, greatest detective in France, is discussing the mystery of the theft of the diamond necklace of the Marquise.

Before them, on the stage, is the beautiful MME. ZIRZENOFF, idol of Paris.

Before entering the Marquis' box M. Jonquille halted an usher who was leaving and managed to secure for a moment a bouquet of orchids which the Marquis was sending to the singer.

M. Jonquille reviews the theories of the theft. The Marquis had suggested the theories which led to the arrest and confession of Jean Lequex.

Lequex was sentenced but did not tell where the jewels could be found.

It was my assistant Forneau who followed your theories," M. Jonquille told the Marquis.

Go on With the Story

CHAPTER III

"IT now occurred to Forneau that this robbery had been committed by some one of the hotel thieves of Paris, who were accustomed to enter any building which they were able to get into, and to search any apartment that they happened to find open," continued M. Jonquille.

"But the Marquis reminded Forneau that the person committing this robbery had brought with him a piece of paper from the basement, that more thieves entering on the chance of finding some valuables would not have taken this precaution."

"This theory pleased Forneau, and he adopted every excellent suggestion which the Marquis was able to make. But he ventured to wonder from what source the thief had been able to obtain the combination to the safe, since it was known only to Mme. la Marquise."

"The Marquis was again able to indicate a valuable suggestion. Women, he ventured to suggest, have always the same habits. They do not trust their memories for anything that required an accuracy of numbers. The Marquis would have somewhere this memorandum written down. He suggested that Forneau make a search of her writing-table."

"To their surprise they found the lock to the drawers of this table broken, and among some papers hastily turned over, at the back of one of these drawers, a small book with a red leather cover. On the last page, in pencil, was precisely the same memorandum which the Marquis had picked up on the slip of paper under the door—the combination to the safe of the Marquis de Chantelle, and following, the four columns of four figures."

"The problem which now presented itself was how to obtain what was in the building could have written this memorandum. Forneau and the Marquis had before them the handwriting. With the histories and associates of the valet, the concierge and the older employees they were familiar, and were convinced that it was not one of these persons; but there were other employees in this apartment, and the problem was how to obtain specimens of their handwriting without incurring suspicion. In his perplexity Forneau asked the opinion of the Marquis de Chantelle."

"The Marquis suggested the following clever device: The Service de la Surete should send an agent to the building pretending to be an official of the government concerned with certain mental tests required, in order to register citizens for the electorate. Among other tests, he should require them to write the names of the president of France and that of the premier at the close of the war. This would indicate the names of Millerand and Clemenceau, and by this means they could obtain the M of the word Marquis, and the C of the word Chantelle, which had been written by the unknown thief upon the memorandum which contained the combination of the safe."

The Prefect of Police stopped. The attention of the Marquis de Chantelle seemed to have passed from the narrative to a contemplation of the opera.

Mme. Zirzenoff was at the point of her greatest scene. Her voice filled the immense house like a silver bell, like innumerable silver bells—a quality of the human voice that no other diva had ever brought to Paris. Her youth, her alluring beauty, added to the enchantment. Monsieur le Marquis de Chantelle was looking at her, one hand fingering his mustache, the other turning the monocle at the end of the silk cord. The Prefect of Police did not interrupt the absorption, but he continued to speak.

"MAY I TROUBLE YOU TO PRESENT THEM TO MADAME LA MARQUISE?"

"And as it happened," he said, "it was the ingenuity of this device suggested by the Marquis de Chantelle that enabled Forneau to locate the one who had committed the robbery. He found an employee lately taken on by the concierge because he offered to assist in cleaning the building at a lower cost. The agent from the Service de la Surete came to this person in the course of his interview with the employees of the building."

"Monsieur," he said, "I am compelled to ask you to submit to some mental tests, but I will make them brief. Tell me the form of government under which we live and write down for me the name of the president of France and that of the premier who conducted the peace terms in the Great War, and I will give you no further annoyance."

"The man replied that France was a republic and wrote the name of Alexander Millerand. But when he came to write the C in Clemenceau, he hesitated. The agent seized him at once, snapped a pair of handcuffs on him and confronted him with Forneau. He was shown the slip of paper which the Marquis had picked up in his apartment. He was told the details of the crime as he had carried it out, and in his confusion he confessed."

The Prefect of Police continued to speak, slowly, without a change of accent, as if to himself.

"Monsieur le Marquis will remember the Apache's confession: he had obtained a position in the building and had watched the Marquis' apartment. As it happened the night of the robbery was not the first time that the Marquis had left the door unlocked; a week before, he had left it unlocked in the afternoon. It was then that this man had gone in—taking with him a slip of paper from the basement—broke open the Marquis' desk and searched for the combination, which he finally found and wrote down. The search had required a very long time, and he had not time on this day to open the safe. He had taken the paper with him and waited until this night on which the Marquis had again gone out, leaving the door unlocked."

"Then he had opened the safe and removed the necklace. He thought that in putting the necklace into his pocket he must have pulled the slip of paper out, and by this means it had fallen to the floor where the Marquis had picked it up."

"The man made no defense and waived all legal procedure. He confessed and has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment. But he refused to say what he had done with the necklace."

M. Jonquille, watching the Marquis, took a box of cigarettes out of his pocket and slipped his thumb-nail around the stamp, but he did not open the box. He spoke suddenly to the Marquis de Chantelle: his voice was sharp, clear, and its tones arrested the man's attention.

"Monsieur le Marquis," he said, "Mme. Zirzenoff will not be pleased with her bouquet of orchids." The Marquis turned suddenly on him; his eyes were now contracted with an intense expression.

"You know, monsieur, that I have sent a bouquet of orchids to Mme. Zirzenoff?"

"Surely, monsieur," replied the Prefect of Police. "I passed the boy departing with them when I entered. They were very lovely, superb, exquisite, the Mottled Butterfly! How aptly adapted is that flower to Monsieur le Marquis!"

The Marquis continued to regard him.

"And why, monsieur, do you compare me with this variety of orchid?"

"If you will tell me, Monsieur le Marquis," replied the Prefect of Police, "why Jean Lequex refused to say where the necklace was that he had stolen, I will answer your question."

The hauteur in the Marquis' voice was now distinctly audible.

"Monsieur," he said, "it was you who promised to tell me that."

"And I shall tell you," replied Jonquille. "Jean Lequex refused to say where the necklace was for the very good reason that he did not know where it was."

M. Jonquille looked the Marquis steadily in the face.

"The agent of the Surete neglected to mention to monsieur an item or two of their discoveries: the writing on the slip of paper had been made with the left hand; and the concierge, as it happened, seeing the Marquis Chantelle go out leaving his door ajar, closed it."

"Ah, monsieur, we have been engaged in a bit of comedy. Pardon us if we have deceived you. . . . It was I who conducted the investigation of your affair, disguised as Forneau; and was the agent Forneau, disguised as Jean Lequex who confessed to your robbery and took a mock sentence of imprisonment under an arrangement with the court. . . . We did not find, then, the thief who opened the safe to your apartment."

The Marquis regarded the Prefect of Police with an amazed expression. His lips parted, his eyes wide. "Then, monsieur," he stammered, "you have discovered neither the thief nor the necklace."

"Ah, yes," replied M. Jonquille in the modulated voice of one who bids another adieu. "We have discovered both."

He took a mass of jewels out of his waistcoat pocket and handed them to the Marquis.

"I found these in the bouquet of orchids which you were sending to Mme. Zirzenoff. May I trouble you to present them to Madame la Marquise when she shall return from America tomorrow?"

"The Man With Steel Fingers," another thrilling adventure of M. Jonquille, will begin in our next issue.

man's collar. The thing is wholly impossible for a man's size collar would drape clear over him and land on the floor.

How can you expect a man to run this country that can't run his own family?

He is everlastingly getting into trouble and always winds up with the doleful wail "Oh Min."

In this great state of Illinois where the breath of scandal and graft are not known, and where politicians make great promises and never violate these promises, and where the watchword of our politicians is economy and where our high officers look with scorn on the almighty dollar, and work only for the good of the whole people. In this great state of Illinois where party lines are unknown and everybody votes for the best man regardless of politics, I say, do we want a man of the calibre of Andy Gump. A thousand times no.

I repeat do we want a man that carries his ill begotten gains in one hip pocket and a bottle of moonshine in the other. A thousand times no. The only thing he has a hundred percent in is moonshine.

Where, oh where would Andy Gump be, were it not for Sid Smith, Ben Gump and Mrs. Zanders? Echo answers Where?

Do we want a pop-jin-jay of a kangaroo who started his career in watching a mouse hole in the floor? whose fishing yarns at Shady Rest are notorious, who messes things up until little Chester sets him right, who is a palavering demagogue agrees with everybody on everything in order to get a vote? I say a thousand times no.

He does not know as much about running this government as a hen does in running a Ford.

In this law-abiding, prohibition-obsessed country, we need men of a different calibre.

We view with alarm the chaotic condition this country would be in, should Andrew Gump be elected to this high office and I shall ever raise my voice to the greatest heights of earnestness in combating this mighty disaster.

No. It cannot be. It shall not be. Our only hope of saving this fair land lies in another direction.

Fellow citizens, my modesty makes me hesitate, but modesty must stand aside when great issues are at stake and I rush to the battle, well knowing that victory will crown my efforts in the end. And now let us bring to your attention another man as widely different as the poles, a man of dignity and of remarkable personality, a man of marked ability, beloved throughout our fair land, and widely known for his generosity, goodness and amiability. A genius of the highest type whose grasp on the great problems, is remarkable, and whose statesmanship is unquestioned—such a man ladies and gentlemen is your dearly beloved Colonel Cootie. Here is our platform.

We believe that hip pockets should be under lock and key.

We believe there should be good roads in the state of Illinois where the governor says we can't have them.

We believe a special conservator should be appointed to save what little is left of Andy Gump's money before he becomes a public charge in the poor house.

We believe in the abolition of 1-28,622 rabbit herders in the state of Illinois. If this is not possible then let the rabbit herders become the common people and what few are left become guardians of the cat fish in navigable streams.

We stand for two big pieces of pie.

We look with despair on Andy Gump's proposition to create 17,432 new commissions in the state of Illinois in order to give every voter an office.

We believe in home rule while Andy Gump believes in home brew.

We view with alarm the tendency of the common people to think for themselves.

We believe for the good of the whole people a lot of our officials should be dumped into Rock River and some transferred from Springfield to Joliet.

We severely condemn the practice of some citizens of Dixon who refuse to support the churches or Y. M. C. A. and who hatch up some criticism as an excuse to ease their conscience. They are not only slackers but grafters for they share in the orderly community and good citizenship these organizations help create without giving anything in return.

There are many other great problems such as flappers, short skirts, bobbed hair and Charley Chaplin mustaches that will require great diplomacy in their solution.

Fellow citizens, do not make the fatal mistake of selecting the wrong man to solve these great problems. If I can manage Ma, Gus and the Goat I can manage anything.

While Andy Gump causes smiles of derision, I cause smiles of innocent mirth as gentle as the dew on the petal of the morning rose.

I am a man that never camouflages my appearance and am up and coming with the times.

It matters not how hard I get bumped by the goat I never give vent to anything but exclamation points.

If I hurt anyone's feelings it is always with rare judgment and diplomacy.

I have the good judgment to select as my best friend that great genius, Carey Orr, who guides me faithfully over the stormy pathway of life.

My domestic relations are beautifully serene and restful.

My eyes wander only in the straight and narrow pathway, my footsteps are firm in the right and I am a good man when I am asleep.

I am a lovable neighbor, always giving in to Gus and the way I mind Ma is an example to the whole world.

I am at perfect ease in all classes of society, have a polish and refinement under all conditions, and my get-away from tight places leaves nothing to be desired.

My lovable personality and gentle humor are an antidote for the daily grind of horrors, wars, pestilences and calamity.

In this great country of a hundred millions of people, somebody is going wrong all the time, and some newspapers play up to the limit in big headlines this sensational rot, and at such times turn to me for I am a value and rest to the tired soul.

You can't corner the Colonel in any action, word or deed, and when the problems seem to overwhelm me, I shine at my best and turn the laugh on the other fellow.

Such a man is your Colonel Cootie who stands head and shoulders above his spindle legged opponent and I am a man you can follow with perfect confidence in the great problems in the state of Illinois in particular and in the whole country in general.

I lend dignity to every occasion, and add grace to any company whether on the front or back porch.

I have an air of indifference when the occasion requires.

I tell Ma everything when the proper pressure is brought to bear. I never argue a hopeless case.

I am diplomatic enough to get by with half-breath escapes.

I am the idol of thousands who watch every morning for the new problems I so masterfully solve.

I am a man whose name is written by the silver stars in the blue dawn of the heavens, whose shining lustre will glow throughout the ages, whose acts will go down to posterity a blaze with glory.

Such a man is your Colonel Cootie.

Broker Kills Self Before Bankruptcy

New York, Nov. 14—Failure of the stock brokerage firm of Wasserman Brothers, was announced today from the Rostrom of the New York Stock Exchange. Jess A. Wasserman, member of the firm, committed suicide last night.

The original stock brokerage and banking firm of Wasserman Brothers was organized years ago, by Edward Wasserman, father of Jess A. Wasserman, who ended his life last night. The elder broker died in 1914 and the firm fell into the hands of his son, Jess A., his brother, Jesse E., and Arthur Stiner.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy later was filed in federal court against the firm. The petitioning creditors alleged indebtedness amounting to $42,107. The firm declined to make any statement.

Jess A. Wasserman shot himself through the head after lying down in his bath tub in his home on East 83rd Street. He left letters ascribing his act to business troubles and despondency induced by separation from his wife after she had been granted a divorce, and she made her home in Germany.

To Plan Changes in Transportation Act

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Nov. 14 — Arrangements were made today by Senator Cummins republican, Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, for conferences this week with President Harding, relative to changes in the Transportation Act.

The President let it be known some weeks ago that as a result of experience gained from the recent railroad strike, he would have some recommendations regarding rail legislation to make to congress at the forthcoming session.

The recommendations as evolved after the conferences with Senator Cummins are expected by some officials to be set forth in his message to congress next week.

ed as though he were going to draw a revolver.

ALLIES TO TALK OVER SITUATION BEFORE MEETING

Leader of Mexican Rebels Surrendered; is Granted Amnesty

Durango, Mexico, Nov. 14.—General Rosendo Hernandez, whose status as a rebel general had more of a personal than political significance, according to Mexican military authorities here, has surrendered and has been granted amnesty by the federal government. He has returned to private life at Santa Rosalia, Chihuahua.

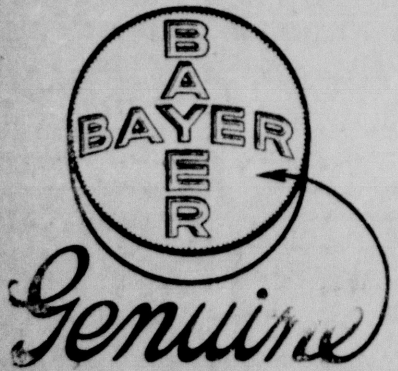

Will Agree on Grounds on Which They Meet Turks.

London, Nov. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—The troublesome question of how a meeting of the allies could be arranged before the Lausanne peace conference for the purpose of outlining the allied program, as Great Britain has insisted, has been solved as a result of an exchange of messages, by the chancelleries at Paris, Rome and London.

Neither Premier Poincare of France nor Mussolini of Italy can leave his capital for a conference elsewhere before proceeding to Lausanne, it has been developed, but Lord Curzon, the British secretary for foreign affairs, has arranged to see Premier Poincare in Paris on the way to Lausanne, probably on Thursday, and the conversation will be continued by the two on the train from Paris to Lausanne. Premier Mussolini has arranged to leave Rome or Lausanne Friday and join his colleagues for a preliminary meeting at Lausanne Sunday.

Airplane to Carry Artillery Complete

Washington, Nov. 14.—Completion of a giant cannon-carrying airplane for night bombardment—claimed to be the first airplane constructed for artillery material—was reported to the Commerce department today by Vice Consul Harold D. Finley at Havre. The machine is equipped with a 75 millimeter gun, one of the 75's of World War fame, at the Chalon Sur Saone Works for the French air ministry.

The plane is made entirely of metal and is propelled by four motors of 400 horse power each. It is six meters high, with a fuselage 20 meters in length, has a wing spread of 30 meters, and weighs 10 metric tons fully equipped. The plane calls for a speed of 150 kilometers an hour. Old War Horse Wins Jumping Contest at National Horse Show

New York, Nov. 14.—Moses, a spirited old war horse with no pedigree, who learned to jump on French battle fields, today held the title of the best jumper among sixty crack horses at the national horse show. He is a red chestnut and represented the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kansas. In the competition last night, Moses easily disposed of at least a dozen blue ribbon former title holders. He has served under three flags. He was bred in Ireland and Uncle Sam purchased him from the French during the World War.

Major J. A. Barry, who rode him, isn't sure of his age, saying it may be anywhere from twelve to twenty.

Instant Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

No Other Oats Cook so quickly as these

Now there's an Instant Quaker Oats—the quickest-cooking oats in the world. Your grocer has it as well as the regular Instant Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and cooks to perfection. No other style of oat flakes cooks nearly so quickly as that.

Now two things you want

Now Quaker Oats offer you two things you want. They offer a flavor which has won the world. Quaker Oats dominate wherever oat lovers live. Never was an oat dish made so delicious. That's because we use queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. All puny grains are discarded. We get but ten pounds of these luscious flakes from a bushel. Now Instant Quaker offers that same super-quality, almost ready to eat. It is flaked from the same grains, but the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Now you have your choice. Regular Quaker—the kind you have always known. Instant Quaker—the style that cooks so quickly. Get the style you prefer. But, for one or both of these reasons, insist on the Quaker brand.

Regular Quaker Oats Come in package at left—the style you have always known.

Instant Quaker Oats Come in package at right, with the extra "Instant" label.

Your grocer has both. Be sure to get the style you want.
